

CENTER FOR BIOGRAPHY & SOCIAL ART

Introductory Evening: What is this Work?

To contemplate the destinies of human beings with reference and awe – that is something that the times demand of us.

Rudolf Steiner

The longing to be seen and heard in our full reality has arisen in each human soul since the beginning of the last century and will grow increasingly urgent.

Rudolf Steiner

Experience Biography and Social Art through exercises and conversation. Meeting each other in authentic ways, we awaken connections within and with others. This evening is for those considering the training program and/or learn more about this work.

Our Certificate Program begins this summer from July 29-August 9. This three-year program meets three times per year: two weeks each summer and one week each fall and spring.

Graduates continue on to transform areas of health and elder care, counseling, art therapy, education, leadership, community development and social renewal.

This is work that serves our times by bringing social artistry to life.
